The Sample Procedure for conducting quiz competition

The system to conduct the quiz competition is being explained here for your convenience. There may be 5 to 10 rounds of the questions but you can increase or reduce the rounds. On the dias try to conduct the competition together with only 4 to 6 teams consisting of 2 students (boys / girls) in every team. If there are more teams, then selection, may be done by making different groups of 4 to 6 teams, on the basis of their maximum marks obtained in six rounds. Then the group among the teams who secure First, Second and Third positions in the final competition will be given prizes.

Take a different subject in every round and ask the questions pertaining to the same subject from all the teams. The subjects may be religion, culture, history, geography, literature, politics, constitution, games, sports, recreation etc. Ask the questions from every team out of these subjects in the first six rounds. 10 marks should be awarded for the correct answer given within 20 seconds. The question will be passed on to the next team if the answer is wrong or not given within 20 seconds and the team which gives the correct answer shall be given 5 bonus marks. The questions pertaining to the subject of interest of the team may be asked in the seventh round. Give 10 marks if the answer is correct and deduct 5 marks for the wrong answer. The question will not be passed on. In eighth round ask the questions pertaining to the present event and give 10 marks for the correct answer. The question will not be passed on. The ninth round would be related to audio-visual, for which a bell is essential on every seat. The competitor, who rings the bell first shall have to answer the question. If the answer is wrong or is not given, deduct 5 marks and give 10 marks for the correct answer.

In the last round five questions from every team will be asked at a fast speed. The time limit would be only 20 seconds. The answer shall have to be given at once to the questions, otherwise the team will say 'Pass', so that next question may be asked. The round will end on completion of 20 seconds. Two marks will be given for every correct answer.

The winner teams standing first, second, third and a consolation prize will be given. Every competitor will be given a certificate as well.
